Glendon commission calls for greater security in the Arctic Student report goes world-wide

Frédéric Tremblay

A Glendon Commission composed of twelve students wrote an impressive report on the Arctic, that is circulating around the world and will be sent to Prime Minister Brian Mulroney.

The report called Security for the Environment of the Arctic Lands and Seas, (SEALS), contained the aim of the Glendon Commission which was to design a security system for the universal Arctic.

The project was decided in the scope of the course: "Security as an Organizing Concept in International Relations," taught by Alex Morrisson who is also the director for the Canadian Institute for Strategic Studies (CISS).

"It's a good exercise that permits us to combine theory and practice and that also gives students good experience with team work," mentions Morrisson, who is visibly proud of his team.

The group decided to study the Arctic mainly because there is a part of the Arctic that is within the Canadian border, and also it is a relatively virgin area of earth that some countries would possibly like to take advantage of for military purposes, as well as other negative uses.

The Glendon Commission on Arctic Security (GCAS) did not only consider the military aspect but also the socio-economic, environmental and scientific aspects.

The report emphasizes four principles: due recognition of national sovereignty, active involvement of all peoples of the Arctic, open-minded, multi-lateral participation of states, and finally, a multi-disciplinary approach.

In the report, the GCAS said that SEALS would promote co-operation among Arctic states and other organization members; protect fragile Arctic ecosystems, preserve the region's social and cultural characteristics, and ensure that economic development projects are sustainable.

According to the report, the universal Arctic is increasing in international strategic importance, yet it lacks a comprehensive security system.

The open security system would have a membership that would include Canada, Denmark, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Russia, Sweden and the United States. An executive body called Circumpolar Council would be in place, where one representative from each country, with one vote would take part.

Marc Chabot, a student who is part of the Commission (who by the way admits not having counted the number of hours of work he contributed to the project) believes strongly that the Arctic must have such a system. "We have to do something while there is still time."

Nancy Fonsera, who is also part of the team, has no hesitation when asked if the report is going to attract attention. "We should be taken seriously, considering the research and the effort spent on the topic."

In fact, the Commission spent a lot of time studying various aspects of the Antarctic, and also any studies that have been completed concerning the Arctic.

Morrisson is also very optimistic. "Not a long time ago, I received a delegation from Sweden on Foreign Affairs, and they are very interested in the report."

GCSA believes that the creation of SEALS will be beneficial to all parties concerned and will have potential to promote unity among the circumpolar nations of the Arctic.

Adm. office stormed

TORONTO (CUP)—Chanting and dancing on desktops, three hundred students stormed York University's administrative offices on Thursday March 12 and forced the university vice presidents to meet with them over a set of demands.

"I've never seen this many people up here in all the time I've been here," said Bill Farr, vice president of finance, who has sat on the York administration since the 1960's.

The event was the culmination of two weeks of protest against racism in the university's approximately 30 member full-time security force. A week earlier, three Black students had been asked to show their ID by guards who claimed the students looked "too young".

"There is constant harassment on this campus," said Ahmed Hashi, a first-year arts student at the protest. "Black students feel under constant attack."

Other incidents cited by the students included the assault of a Black female student by a bouncer at a student pub; a parking lot attendant who allegedly told a Black student that "this is not the jungle," and the harassment of a Black student studying quietly at the library.

Students responded by wearing cards reading "John Doe" and "Jane Doe" around their necks. After learning that the security office planned to limit itself to self-investigation, the students planned the occupation.

The students' demands include a full-scale investigation of the security department by an external body; the formation of a student-run review committee for the hiring of bouncers and handling of complaints; the hiring of a second full-time race relations officer; an annual review of security; the firing of the guilty officers.

At the occupation, the students requested a meeting with the Jean-Claude Bouhénic will be the next dean of Glendon College.

The Principal, Roseann Runte, and Beth Hopkins, the Provost, accepted the recommendations given by the special committee set up to study the nominations.

"It scares me to replace Yvette Szmids, but it's a new challenge for me and I will do my best to be as competent as she was," expresses the new dean.

Jean-Claude Bouhénic is not a new face among the Glendon community, he has been teaching for many years and was also much involved in the Glendon Theatre. In 1989, he received an award for being the best professor at Glendon. He is also bilingual, thus respecting the philosophy of Glendon's bilingualism.

Interviewed by phone, Bouhénic hurried to mention that he will be very happy to live on campus with his family.

To the question concerning being a male dean for such a large majority of women, Bouhénic mentioned that he is quite conscious of the situation, "Je ferai de mon mieux, dit-il, même si je ne suis pas une femme."

Il ajoute qu'il est entouré de femmes dans son équipe et qu'il n'hésiterait pas à les consulter ou à leur référer des étudiants(es) si c'était nécessaire.

La doyenne Yvette Szmids, qui est toujours en fonction, affirme être très contente du choix: "On a choisi un excellent candidat."

La principale du Collège partage le même point de vue et en profite pour louer l'excellent travail que Madame Szmids a accompli ces neuf

Le comité qui a recommandé M. Bouhénic était formé de trois étudiants, trois professeurs et trois membres du personnel. Le groupe a appliqué les critères qui lui avaient été donnés par la principale et a pris en considération une multitude d'opinions.

GCSU sponsors vacationers

At its last meeting, the GCSU created what they called "a precedent" in giving $500 to one individual who was selected to spend his summer in the Himalayas. The total cost of the trip is $4400.

The original request was for $750, but $500 was the amount decided upon. The motion was voted on and it passed seven against four. Three people that have no balls abstained. In fact, it's as if they voted for the motion because abstention is not an absence of vote, but an affiliation with the majority.

The GCSU constitution does not say if it can or cannot sponsor one student for a project like this. However, it's aberrant if not irresponsible since the reality is that $500 is to be taken from all students' pockets to give to one single individual who will climb those mountains.

The consequence of this precedent, is that the GCSU committed itself to give $500 to every student who wants to go away this summer, because it says in its constitution that all students will be treated equally.

In exchange for the $500, the individual was asked to do a presentation when he gets back. Well, I can go home next summer to Quebec, demand the same amount of money and make a presentation on the state of bilingualism in Charlevoix. A Club Med would be fun, though.

From my perspective what the GCSU did is simply paying for a holiday trip. This Himalayan trip has nothing to do with Glendon at all.

The GCSU must withdraw this decision or be crushed under an avalanche of rocks. Their other option is to run to the bank and get a lot of cash in order to prevent students from getting ugly.

I laughed (to avoid crying) when I read in the GCSU minutes that one member said, "We shouldn't worry about any precedent. This is a unique experience and we should support him if we can afford it." What the hell is that? If we can afford it? As far as I know, the Pub is in debt, Pro Tem is in debt, the UN club has to sell chocolate to get to New York to represent Glendon and so on and so forth. And all of these organizations are a benefit to many, many students.

By the way, I need a new bicycle for this summer. I'm wondering if the GCSU would give me some money? Let's stop here because this kind of stupidity is going to make me become rude and vulgar.

Chers rédacteurs
Representatives from the Glendon Women's Education and Referral Centre will be available in York Hall, across from the Cafeteria from March 17 through to March 20 from 11:00am until 4:00pm. The Women's Centre welcomes you to contact us if you have any further questions regarding the referendum and the future direction (success) of the Glendon Women's Education and Referral Centre.

Le centre des femmes de Glendon tiendra un référendum sur la question du support financier du centre, par les étudiants de Glendon. Le centre des femmes est l'hôte de diverses activités culturelles telles que; des conférences, des films, des groupes de support; c'est aussi et surtout un centre où des ressources de tout genre (livres, no. de téléphone, adresses spécifiques, etc...) sont disponibles. Le centre des femmes offre également de la nourriture à tous ceux et celles qui ont des problèmes financiers. (Le centre est complètement géré par des volontaires, et son avenir est très incertain. Offrir ces activités et ressources coûte cher et c'est pour cela que le centre des femmes tiendra un référendum les 23, 24, et 25 mars. Le centre des femmes de Glendon requiert votre support pour augmenter les frais de scolarité de $00.20 (vingt sous) par crédit. Cet argent sera directement versé au centre de la femme.

puisque l'avenir du centre des femmes en dépend. Cet argent couvre les frais d'opération du centre seulement, tels que les frais pour les activités organisées pendant la semaine internationale de la femme. Le centre éditera un rapport annuel contenant toutes les dépenses faites durant l'année. Ce rapport sera bien-sûr mis à la disposition de la communauté Glendonienne.

Le centre de vote sera situé au pavillon York, à côté de la cafétéria. Votez en grand nombre.

To the Editors,
 As a follow-up to the article in Pro Tem I want to inform you that the proposal to change the library hours will go to the Senate Library Committee at their March meeting. I would also like to make a correction to the article: the proposed change is to close the library at 10pm, Monday-Thursday, NOT as previously thought, at 9pm.

I love Pro Tem

To the Editors,
 I was going to write a nasty letter complaining about the frequency with which my articles are printed. I was going to bitch about how my "shit and Kitch" article was never printed, my "Cuba" article was delayed for two months after I submitted it, making much of the material no longer relevant in view of recent events, and how, just recently, two issues have passed sans my article on "Zionism". I remember how I was particularly distraught, at how two pages that could have held my article, were devoted to full page advertisements for the likes of Chrysler, no doubt to promote their arms sales in the Third World. I must confess, that I was not even amused with the cute little article about squirrels on the front page.

But then a strange thing happened that dispelled my infantile gurlblings. On my way home on the subway, I had a joyous revelation. It is hard for me to type this, my fingers shake so, from elation. Oh, thank you, Pro Tem!

Thank you, GCSU! Thank you for dutifully and diligently shouldering the heavy burden of free thought from my incapable shoulders. But it would be egocentric to include only myself. After all, my article may have caused stress to the vast readership of Pro Tem, who, thanks to you have been kept in a state of bliss for so long. Oh joy! Oh rapture! No more thinking for myself! With a tear in my eye, I can without fear cry out, "I love Pro Tem!"

Résidence: plus 6%

Louis Eric Boutin

Les étudiants de Glendon revenant en résidence l'année prochaine seront frappés par une augmentation de coût de 6%. Cette proposition acceptée par le comité du Budget de Résidence sera vraisemblablement mise en vigueur en 1992-93. According to Ann Bernier, the Glendon User's Committee President, who also sits on the Residence Budget Committee, this proposal is excellent in view of future advantages.

Many projects that have been on the agenda for a long time will finally be completed. Des portes seront ajoutées aux douches de la résidence Wood dès que l'horaire scolaire le permettra au mois d'avril. De plus, des sifflets anti-violents ont déjà été achetés au coût de 1200$ malgré l'opposition de certains qui sont persuadés que les sifflets en question seront utilisés à des fins récréatives plutôt que sécuritaires. De même, la première étape du changement des fenêtres, projet tout attendu par les résidents frigorifiés de Wood et Hillard, débutera l'été prochain par la pose de nouvelles fenêtres aux premiers étages et sous-sols des résidences. Assez cyniquement pour de nombreux étudiants, ce changement ne vise pas la conservation de la chaleur ou de l'énergie mais l'amélioration de la sécurité. En effet, d'après Ann Bernier, la volonté de Leon Wasser et de son administration vise un environnement sécuritaire maximal.

Des étudiants ignorants répandent de fausses rumeurs et n'osent pas se renseigner sur les faits auprès des personnes clés: "personne n'est venu me parler", dit Ann Bernier, "avant de se plaindre". Compared to the original suggestion of a 14.5% increase, a 6% increase seems more acceptable; considering that increases at Queen's and McMaster's are between 11 and 14%. Still, according to Ann Bernier, students don't have a choice but to live in residence; since they cannot afford living-off campus. On the other hand, she admits that some students prefer to pay for an apartment since there is greater independence.

Ann Bernier recognizes the inconveniences of living in residence: such as students having to use the cafeteria and the fact that kitchen plan is not accessible. "En outre, c'est plus avantageux de loger hors du campus pour trouver un emploi."

university president and other administration and security staff members to discuss the demands.

A crowd of Metro Toronto police officers waited at the foot of York's Ross Building while the students occupied the ninth floor, which houses the offices of the president and vice presidents. But there were no arrests or incidents of violence during the four-hour occupation.

After about an hour, the students confronted Pam MacDonald, executive director of security, and asked her to sign a petition.

"I won't be signing it," MacDonald said, "I'm not convinced there is racism involved."

MacDonald later acknowledged that "their (the officers') behavior was totally unacceptable and, understandably, people are upset."

MacDonald explained that the Metro Police were "merely on stand-by".

After learning that President

Harry Arthurs was out of the country and the vice-presidents had left the building, the students settled in for a long stay. Jammed shoulder-to-shoulder in the plush executive office suite, the students pounded the walls and danced on the desks while chanting and singing.

After a two-hour wait, the four vice-presidents were led single-file into the crowd of students. They stood silently as protest leader and Excalibur editor Jeannine Amber, standing on a desk, read the demands to them through a megaphone.

Amber noted that the university has only one race relations officer for 45,000 students, and that despite the fact that York is Canada's most ethnically diverse university, security guards receive only two hours of race relations training.

"If you've got all these people this angry in this office just to make a request," she concluded, "you can imagine what's going to happen if you tell them to fuck off."

After meeting for 15 minutes, the vice presidents agreed to hold a meeting between administrators and students on Monday at 3:00pm.

William Farr, vice president of finance, said he sympathized with the students.

"We know perfectly well it's serious," he said. The (the demands) didn't seem unreasonable."

Security director MacDonald defended York Security against criticisms of racism and inaccessibility, although she acknowledged that the ID card incident "didn't look good."

"I don't think it's fair to say the university hasn't been doing anything because I know there are things we've been doing," she said, noting that she has established a security complaints procedure.

MacDonald claimed that the ethnic background of security officers at York are "probably one of the most mixed" in Canada.

However, when asked why all of the guards attending the occupation were White, she hesitated before answering.

"Basically, whoever happens to be on duty here happened to come over and respond to the scene," she said. "I think the figures will speak for themselves."

According to MacDonald's office, three full-time security officers are non-White.

Des projets toujours à l'étude

François Lizotte

Nothing very extraordinary is expected on campus for next year. We still do not know what will happen with the pub and the Bistro, which, as we know, could be relocated to Glendon Hall, where the bookstore now stands. The decision making process seems to be quite long since many services are involved.

Pour ce qui concerne les résidences, le bureau des relations commerciales semble avoir plusieurs projets à l'étude, mais peu de changements majeurs sont prévus pour l'an prochain, sauf pour ce qui est du remplacement des fenêtres à Wood, qui s'avère un besoin crucial, tant pour le confort des résidents que pour la conservation d'énergie. Ceux qui auraient peur de la suppression des téléphones publics, puisqu'on avait proposé de couper ce service (dont le prix s'élève à 2200$ par an) sans prétexte que la majorité des résidents avaient déjà une ligne privée, peuvent dormir en paix. Monsieur Leon Wasser est catégorique sur ce point, les téléphones vont demeurer en place l'an prochain.

Toujours en ce qui concerne les résidences, une rumeur à l'effet que les cuisines soient agrandies pour permettre leur utilisation à toute la communauté a été partiellement démentie par M. Wasser. Ce dernier a affirmé qu'il s'agissait là d'un simple projet et qu'il était trop tôt pour en conclure quoi que ce soit.

One of the main pre-occupations of the Business Office is certainly Hospitality Glendon. Many conferences will be held this coming summer such as the Canadian Conference on Primatology and the Fifth Canadian Conference on Women in Engineering, Science, and Technology. These events will bring revenue to York University and will provide full-time summer jobs for 16 students. According to Wasser, only about five percent of these revenues will go to York campus. The money is mainly used to provide services and to pay the personnel. An estimated amount of $120,000 should go to the residence service. Wasser says that Hospitality Glendon is important as it allows for services to be maintained during summer.

Pour ceux qui auraient entendu parler d'une nouvelle carte multi-usage qui pourrait être utilisée par différents services, il faudra, toujours selon M. Wasser, attendre au moins un an et demi avant que se concrétise ce projet qui est encore à l'étude. Cette carte informatisée pourrait, entre autre, se substituer aux clés d'entrée des résidences. De cette façon, le problème coûteux des clés perdues serait réglé puisqu'il suffirait d'une opération très simple pour annuler toute carte perdue.

Il faudra donc patienter encore quelque temps avant de voir si tous ces projets verront le jour.

Burden falls on students

Frédéric Tremblay

Two referenda will take place March 24, 25, and 26, 1992. Full-time students will be asked to give $10.20 to the Café de la Terrasse and $6.00 to the Women's Centre. If accepted by the majority, the referendum will come into effect in September 1993.

Moreover, the referendum question will have to be read very carefully, since it asks if you support the introduction of an annual levy for the Women's Centre only, commencing Fall/Winter 93/94 and for the Pub an annual levy to pay their debt.

The Women's Centre will receive approximately 10,000 dollars and the Pub 18,000 dollars.

Last year, each student surrendered $60.00 to the Glendon College Student Union (GCSU). This amount is calculated by York Campus. However, the $10.20 plus the $6.00 will not be taken from the $60.00 already given for the GCSU budget, but rather added to it. It means that the students will pay $60.00 plus $10.20 plus $6.00 for a total of $76.20.

It means that students who are full time will have to give approximately $76 every year.

Many students are beginning to think that this way of making budgets or clearing debts puts all the responsibility on the students shoulders and that in the future, whenever the problem of money comes up, the organization or the service will be asking students to solve the problem concerned.

The question still remains, what to do with the staff, professors and guests who use the Pub but are not required to pay $10.20. As well, the students who do not use the premises will have to pay the $10.20 if the referendum passes.

Other organizations may also want to have their part of the pie. Pro Tem has a budget of $14,370 annually in which it receives $10.00 from the GCSU's budget, and $3.00 from each student. Radio Glendon receives $7,185, Theatre Glendon $1,437 and the Computer Centre $7,185.

Sharmila Khare

1. Quelle expérience pertinente avez-vous pour ce poste?
2. Taking into consideration problems you have seen with the GCSU this year and in past years, cite two ways that show how you could improve student council?
3. Voyez-vous des solutions face aux coupures budgétaires auxquelles doit faire face Glendon?
4. Do you believe there is too much administrative contact over student affairs. How can this problem be rectified?
5. Selon vous, qu'est-ce que les étudiants attendent du poste de Président?

1. A Glendon, je joue un rôle actif dans la vie étudiante en tant que membre de plusieurs organisations, clubs et comités du Collège. Parmi ceux-ci, notons le comité environnemental et plusieurs comités du Conseil de la Faculté comme le comité des standards académiques. De plus, je me suis impliquée dans la vie étudiante au niveau sportif, au niveau professionnel (ambassadrice et assistante à un bureau administratif) et au niveau de la vie en résidence étant comme membre de l'exécutif de ma maison. Cette année, j'ai été la Directrice des Affaires Académiques pour l'AECG. Mes expériences au Collège m'ont montré le leadership, l'organisation et les grandes connaissances de l'infrastructure du Collège dont a besoin une bonne Présidente. Mon implication aux activités du Collège m'a permis de bien comprendre les intérêts et les besoins des étudiants et de savoir ce que c'est leur vision du Collège.
2. The first problem I have seen with the GCSU is accountability. Each year students are elected or acclaimed to positions in order to represent the interests of Glendon students. Unfortunately, members of Council are not evaluated on their performance. I would like to have a fair assessment of the council take place mid-way through the fall/winter academic session in conjunction with Pro Tem so that results will be published for all students to see. By going through such an evaluation process, council can improve their service to students during the same academic year. The second problem I have seen with council is accessibility. Many students do not know what the council is and what services we offer for students. When elected, I intend to post photographs and job descriptions of each council member outside the GCSU office so that students know who to see if faced with a specific problem or question. Also, I plan to post a schedule of office hours outside the GCSU office saying who is in the office and when, so that students know when to reach us.
3. Jusqu'à ce moment, Glendon a subi plusieurs coupures budgétaires à cause de la situation financière de l'Université York. Même si je comprends la nécessité des coupures, j'insiste que les étudiant(e)s soient informé(e)s et consulté(e) des décisions prises par l'administration. Aucune coupure ne doit saper la valeur académique du Collège ni risquer son mandat bilingue. Ensemble, les étudiant(e)s et l'administration peuvent prendre des décisions qui sont acceptables à la communauté de Glendon.
4. I feel that there isn't enough communication between the administration and the student body. I believe that by working together and by sharing ideas, a strong team can be built so that fair decisions can be made by both parties.
5. A mon avis, les étudiant(e)s s'attendent à une Présidente que représente les intérêts et les besoins des étudiant(e)s. Comme Présidente, j'améliorais la communication entre le Conseil Etudiant et la masse étudiante. Je veux que chaque étudiant(e) au collège soit informé(e) des services offerts sur le campus par l'administration et des activités organisées par les clubs. Si les étudiants connaissent les ressources qui leur sont disponibles au collège, cela améliorera leur expérience universitaire. L'amélioration de l'expérience universitaire est certainement ce à quoi les étudiants s'attendent d'une Présidente.

Chi-Chiu Ling

1. J'étais conseiller de l'Association des étudiants du Collège Glendon depuis novembre 1990 jusqu'à novembre 1991. J'avais beaucoup aidé les membres exécutifs du conseil pour organiser des activités culturelles, l'évolution de cours, et le travail de bureau. Tout cela m'a beaucoup aidé à connaître la fonction et les problèmes du conseil en accumulant mon expérience de travailler dans un groupe qui dépend beaucoup de coopération.
Je suis directeur de la publicité de la Société des débats oratoires du Collège Glendon depuis 1990. J'ai participé aux quelque tournois régionaux et nationaux des débats universitaires comme juge, débateur et discours orateur.
Je suis membre de la Société des débats, du Club de Nations Unies, du Club économique et du Club d'Etudes internationales depuis 1990. J'ai participé aux plusieurs activités de ces clubs sur le campus pour but d'avoir plus de connaissance des domaines assez variés. Je suis allé à New York 2 fois pour participer au National Model United Nations comme le représentant de l'Inde et le Premier Ministre de l'Espagne et j'ai de la chance de rencontré les étudiants qui sont venus de tous les coins du monde. Cela m'a aidé d'avoir un point de vue beaucoup plus élargi.
2. GCSU has made some progress in the past years such as many well organized cultural events, courses evaluations and having a banking machine installed. One of the big problems is the student council used to spend too much time to discuss some minor problems to waste time, and to have long meetings without really targeting the most important problems. Some people on the GCSU were irresponsible for their working hours, some were running for a position without really having their work done, having fun all the time in the office in stead of working hard for the students. These kinds of things have to be stopped as soon as possible in order to save every penny for the most needed activities and services for the students.
Any unnecessary travel expenses by the members will be eliminated.
Procedures arising from the meeting and agreed upon by the majority
3. Des solutions face aux coupures budgétaires sont:
 - (a) Avoir un gouvernement des étudiants effectif.
 - (b) Economiser les dépenses.
 - (c) Pousser l'administration de créer des programmes co-op comme ceux de Waterloo.
 - (d) Introduire de secteur privé pour avoir de développement sur le campus pour but de résoudre des problèmes financiers.
4. I don't believe there is too much administrative control over student affairs here at Glendon. We are living in Canada, not in Communist China! I think students better to have a good relation with the administration. Respect and co-operation is good of us!
5. Selon moi les étudiants s'attendent le bon commandement, talent et idées innovatrices du poste de Président. On ne veut plus une personne qui s'amuse mais pas sérieuse qui s'occupe cette position importante!

Candidats à la vice-présidence

Patrik Marier

1. Quelle expérience pertinente avez-vous pour ce poste?
2. Taking into consideration problems you have seen with the GCSU this year and in past years, cite two ways that show how you could improve student council.
3. Voyez-vous des solutions face aux coupures budgétaires auxquelles doit faire face Glendon?
4. How can we be assured that the Vice-President and the money that he/she controls are accountable to the students?
5. Quel est le rôle du Vice-Président?

Tim Wilshaw

1. J'ai fait plusieurs choses antérieurement qui ont un lien avec ce poste. Parmi ceux-ci notons les jeunes-entreprises, le conseil étudiant de Glendon, le conseil du Pub étudiant, mon ancien emploi d'été au palais de Justice de Québec et mes cours de mathématiques et d'économie.
2. The student council can be improved by making the GCSU more accountable to students. Everyone on the student council should be evaluated at least once a year by a journalist of Pro Tem and other students, as an example. The schedules of all counsellors, directors, the President, the Vice-President and the Senator should be posted outside the office. A picture of all council members, their office hours and their responsibilities should also be posted. This will make sure that the GCSU will be more efficient with their office hours and will be more accountable to students.
3. Je crois personnellement que les deux pétitions signées par les étudiants concernant le bureau de l'aide financière et le bureau de la comptabilité ont envoyé un message à l'administration: Glendon a eu plus que sa part de coupures budgétaires. S'il y a d'autres coupures, elles devront être faites en collaboration avec les étudiants. Plusieurs moyens de pressions tel que pétitions, lettres et "sit-in" peuvent être envisagés si l'administration ne consulte pas les étudiants.
4. To be sure that the money that the vice-president controls will be accountable to the students, I will promise that a general assembly will be held in September concerning the GCSU budget. I feel that most of the students should know where their money is going and that we should consult them and change the budget if they approve. If the students want two general assemblies, I would be pleased to hold another assembly in February. Moreover, the fact that I did not miss a meeting this year proves to the students that I am available for them.
5. Tel que le décrit la Constitution de l'AECG, le vice-président est le chef financier du conseil étudiant et il doit s'occuper de tout ce qui concerne les finances et les chiffres. Il doit préparer le budget ainsi que tenir les comptes pour le conseil étudiant. De plus, le vice-président se doit d'être le bras droit du président et le seconder lorsque le besoin se fait sentir.

1. Depuis mon arrivée à Glendon, v'la deux ans j'ai participé à plusieurs activités. Ces activités incluent: La politique des étudiants, les affaires académiques, le sport et finalement la vie en résidence. Officiellement, j'ai été "vice-chairman" pour la café de la terrasse. Aussi j'ai été le représentant de l'AECG pour le Pub. Un conseiller pour l'AECG depuis deux ans, un représentant des Athlètes, un "defrosher", un juge pour le carnaval d'hiver et finalement un membre de l'équipe de hockey de Glendon.
Ces références compris avec un intérêt honêt avec ce qui ce passe à Glendon, je crois, me donnera beaucoup à offrir la communauté Glendon.
2. The biggest problems that I believe the GCSU has now, and must deal with in the next year is in communication and participation on many different levels.
We must find a more effective way to keep the student body more informed and interested in what we do. We must also deal more openly and often with clubs, services and other student and administrative organizations. The more we know what is happening on and off campus, the better and more effectively we will be able to deal with problems that may arise. We may even be able to help prevent these problems.
Participation still has room for improvement. One way of doing this would be to find a way to get more people involved more often. This would mean trying to find ways of increasing off campus participation and including underage students in more events and activities.
3. Des coupures budgétaires crée des problèmes pour les étudiants ainsi que pour les universités partout. La meilleur façon de combattre ce problème est d'informer les étudiantes sur ce qui se passe pour que si nécessaire, on peut mobilizer les étudiants assez vite pour mettre de la pression sur l'administration ainsi que le gouvernement.
4. Accountability comes from visibility and openness. The vice-president does look after the budget and the books, but they are available to be viewed by any student who in interested. They are also audited externally on an annual basis. Students must also remain interested and always question our actions, especially if you aren't informed enough. This not only makes the books and the vice-president accountable, but the entire GCSU.
5. Le rôle primaire du vice-president et de créer un budget avec l'argent qui est donné à l'AECG des étudiants. Après ceci, il faut garder l'argent en ordre pour la restent de l'année.
Le rôle secondaire du vice-président est d'aider le président avec ses décisions et de lui donner des idées et de l'information pour pouvoir trouver des solutions aux problèmes que font face l'AECG.
C'est très important que le vice-président est au courant de comment l'AECG fonctionne et des décisions qui ont été fait dans le passé.

Bruce Beacock

Taking into consideration problems you have seen with the GCSU this year and in past years, cite two ways that show how you could improve student council.

Kate Barber

The GCSU needs to be accountable to the students and it is important that students know what the issues are and how they are being dealt with. As a councillor and a Pro Tem contributor I could bridge that gap. I am willing to write stories that will keep students informed about the GCSU.

In the past, there has not been a lot of competition for the position of councillor and students have been elected who are not necessarily enthusiastic about the job. This has meant that much of the work has had to be done by the executives who already have lots of responsibilities. As a result, events are not always as well organized as they should be. There are 12 candidates for the 7 council positions so hopefully students will be elected who are excited about participating on council. If elected I will gladly spend time and energy helping to make sure that GCSU events run smoothly.

Josh Rachlis

Les réunions du GCSU sont souvent complètement in-effectives. Parfois des membres se continuent à parler en disant essentiellement rien, pour le simple plaisir de s'entendre parler. Je voudrais voir les réunions devenir des instruments de changements, où on attaque des problèmes pertinents et prend de l'action concrète.

En plus, le conseil se concerne trop avec établissant des précédents pour le futur. On refuse de supporter un groupe ou activité en pensant qu'on devrait supporter financièrement une chose similaire pour tout temps. Les étudiants ici ont payé leur argent pour que le conseil les serve, MAINTENANT, pas dans dix ans. Le présent, ça devrait être la priorité.

Shelagh Lemke

As a Glendon student, I see two main problems with the GCSU. Firstly, I feel that the student body of the College is generally uninformed of events that are planned and of decisions that are made on its behalf by the GCSU. To rectify this situation, I would propose that the office be made more accesible to Glendon students and that all GCSU members who do office hours have the answers to students' questions or at least know who the inquiring students should approach.

The second problem I see with the GCSU is there is persistent poor attendance at the weekly meetings. These meetings are essential. As a councillor, I would encourage members to attend and request that the speaker enforce attendance. Presently, a GCSU member must attend two-thirds of the year's meetings. I feel this rule should be changed to two-thirds of the meetings each semester as it is now possible for a member to be absent for consecutive weeks at a time, miss the discussion of important issues and still be on the union.

Hyame Fadel

One problem that I see is the relationship and the communication between the GCSU and the students. I have been told countless times that the GCSU office is an intimidating place, and that many students (especially 1st Year students) are afraid to come in, although once in, they are fine. What I would like to do is make the office an easier place to approach. Once this is achieved students will be coming in more often, finding out more, and therefore becoming more involved.

Alex Lofthouse

As I see it, there are two main problems that need to be addressed:

COMMUNICATION. Sometimes, its tough to tell exactly what GCSU is doing, or plans to do. Pro Tem is only one source of information; while it is a good one, we do need much more. A widely-distributed GCSU newsletter, or perhaps even lunch-hour public forums in the cafeteria to encourage participation and criticism.

LEADERSHIP. This year's GCSU has done a good job; now its up to next year's crop to expand on their work. Stefan Venne recently mentioned to me that he had been working on a special Metropass for university students. I think this is FANTASTIC; next year we should push the TTC relentlessly for results. After a year of doom-and-gloom budget cuts, we need some good news for a change. Lets take the initiative -- that's what leadership is all about.

Chris Hazard

The biggest problems I see at the moment with the GCSU are communication.

- A) only the members of the GCSU are aware of what goes on within their meetings
- B) very few students know who the members of the GCSU are.

Solutions:

- A) utilize Pro Tem and have the topics and minutes of the GCSU published so it would be possible to have information made available to all members of the Glendon Community.
- B) have pictures of each and evey member of the GCSU posted along with their names and positions. This would then make it possible for any member of the Glendon Community to approach them and voice their concerns on the school's happenings.

Sara Wilshaw

I think that I could improve the student council by not just speaking up on matters of importance to the Glendon community but by also taking action on those matters.

I also think that it is very important to make sure that information on events and issues is properly and effectively conveyed to the student body. I will do my best to achieve this.

Aamer Zuberi

Student's Council can improve if people on the council make it what it should be. You are given a responsibility, use it to your advantage and help others. I feel as an individual I'm going to try my best to spread the word about any event GCSU has in store and definitely make Glendon aware that they have a Student's Council that cares and prove to a lot of other community colleges and universitied that Glendon is not just another college, but a FAMILY!

Le conseil des étudiants peut être amélioré si tout le monde travaille à leur plein rendement. Comme individuel je vais faire de mon mieux pour encourager les étudiants du collège à participer à tout les événements. Il faut démontrer aux étudiants que le conseil des étudiants est concerné par leurs problèmes est que nous sommes pas seulement un collège, mais une famille.

Adrian Newman

I really have not seen any problems with the G.C.S.U. this past year(my first at Glendon). However, I have noticed a couple of areas that could use some improvement. First of all, I would encourage more inter-Glendon sporting activities such as basketball, volleyball and floor hockey. I would also consider making some social activities for the afternoons, such as a lunch hour concert or contests.

Prez and V.P. interviews

1. What is your opinion concerning the GCSU's proposal to take over the pub? And the referendum concerning the Women's Centre?
2. Que pensez-vous du Bilinguisme à Glendon. (Anglophone candidates are to respond in French and francophone candidates in English.)

Sharmila Khare

1. The GCSU hasn't officially made a proposal yet to the Pub board. We're still working on it. As it stands, the GCSU is financially liable for the debt of the pub which is about 20,000 dollars, so if this referendum goes through in 1993 the pub will receive about 1700 dollars which will close to cover the debt, but for September of 1992 there still is the 20,000 dollar debt so what I propose is that the GCSU carry the debt as an internal debt and that we also change the make-up of the pub board so that it includes over 50% GCSU representation because it is the students' pub and we'd like to have as much student input into the pub as possible. So by having the Director of Clubs and Services, the Director of Cultural Affairs sit on the pub board, the relations between the GCSU and the pub will improve so that we can have more activities and more clubs using the facilities for fundraising which would help students and it would help the pub as well.

The students will have the chance to decide whether they support paying a six dollar levy every year and giving this money to the Women's Centre. This year I know there's been quite a few difficulties, and I guess animosities between the Women's Centre and the GCSU and next year I'd like to start off maintaining good relations.

2. Moi je crois que le bilinguisme, en fait, c'est Glendon, c'est pour ça que je suis venue ici. Nous avons tous la chance d'apprendre votre deuxième langue, de rencontrer des gens, d'autres cultures francophones ou anglophones, mais moi j'aimerais voir plus d'infrastructures établies au collège pour que les anglophones et les francophones soient confortables de parler, d'utiliser leur langue seconde. Parce qu'il y a moi, j'aimerais voir plus de programmes pour les clubs, pour leur aider à promouvoir le bilinguisme dans leurs clubs, dans leurs activités avec les orateurs qu'ils invitent au collège.

Patrik Marier

1. Premièrement, il n'y a aucune proposition formelle qui a été votée par le conseil de l'Association Etudiante pour prendre le Pub. C'était seulement une suggestion qui a été amenée par Bassam, Marc et un des conseillers. C'est certain que en tant que vice-président, si je suis élu, on va regarder la situation de très près, et étant donné que l'Association Etudiante est responsable pour les dettes du Pub, il est certain qu'on doit avoir la majorité des votes sur le conseil du Pub.

Concernant le référendum pour le Centre des Femmes, je crois que ça va être une décision à prendre seulement pour les étudiants en tant qu'individus personnels, parce que c'est eux qui vont rajouter 6$ de plus sur leur frais de scolarité, et c'est un référendum qui est externe, c'est-à-dire qui n'affecte aucunement le budget de l'Association Etudiante.

2. I think that's the aspect which make me come to Glendon. I think it is very important to keep bilingualism alive on campus. It is very important to increase publicity about it. There's only three universities which are bilingual in Ontario. There is Laurentian University, Ottawa University and Glendon College. It is very important to have, to start, to keep relation very well with those three university and already on our council we have a bilingual affairs director which is very good and I think that's the reason I'm here and that's why I believe that bilingualism should be reinforced and encouraged as well as it is right now.

Chi-Chiu Ling

1. I think since the pub is losing money it is a good proposition by GCSU to co-operate with the managers and the other students representing try to at least make the pub can be operate without debt. I think that's very important since we have budget cut and we have the problem of underfunding we can't bear a burden.

And talking about a referendum for Women's Centre I think I'm not quite sure about that but actually I think that Women's Centre provide essential service for the students and we know that about 70% of Glendon's population are women so this is very important to give them as a ordinary service for somebody who want to talk to some person of the same sex and want to talk to them concerning something. Here they can have some service there. The referendum, I think, I hope the answer will be positive. That's what I think.

2. Je crois que le bilinguisme est très important à Glendon, parce qu'on sait qu'on parle beaucoup de problèmes de l'unité nationale et Glendon représente de bonnes idées pour une nation comme Canada. Parce qu'en Suisse il y a quatre langues officielles, mais il n'y a pas de problème pour la Suisse. Pourquoi on a beaucoup de problèmes ici, il faut avoir un modèle comme Glendon. Il faut renforcer le Bilinguisme. Par exemple, j'avais visité le Collège de la Garde-côtière et le Collège Militaire Canadien. Disons que des bonnes idées comme ça, le langage de la semaine. Ça veut dire, en une semaine, on parle en français, l'autre semaine, on parle en anglais. Ça c'est le vrai Bilinguisme mais, on dit toujours le choix de la langue; si tu veux parler en français, très bien, si tu veux pas parler en français, tu peux toujours parler en anglais. Mais on sait que Toronto, c'est une ville plutôt en majorité anglophone. C'est plus facile pour les francophones pour apprendre l'anglais. Mais c'est plus difficile pour les anglophones apprendre le français. C'est pour ça qu'on doit obliger d'avoir une politique comme ça pour promouvoir le Bilinguisme à Glendon.

Tim Wilshaw

1. First of all, I wouldn't exactly call the proposal which was...-it isn't official yet, of taking over the pub an actual take over, it's more of an integration. As far as an attempt to make the pub board more accountable and more directed to the best interest of the Pub and the best interest of the students the GCSU is, represents the students is accountable and is visible. The Pub is a student run, student owned organization and it just makes sense that the two should be together. All other schools, including York main the pubs are run by the colleges in which they exist. It just makes sense that they should be run together, basically, because it would facilitate co-ordination of events, it would make the pub a more viable business as far as bringing people in. It could help make this place a little bit more fun. The takeover - I wouldn't call it a takeover as I already said - it was a tentative proposal which was shown to the pub board and which was written by myself, Bassam, and Mark and we got some responses and we made some changes.

The Women's Centre, they've proven themselves to be an essential service on campus. They do a lot of work, they're very informed, informative and they're a strong voice on campus. I really hope the referendum goes through. It would prove to them and to everybody that they are a valid service and a necessity on campus. It would make things easier as far as their finances go. One thing, as with the Women's Centre is that the problem that occurred this year was that they needed, or said they needed, something like four and a half thousand dollars in order to meet their budget or meet their needs and because of a lack of communication perhaps, it came as a total shock to the GCSU when they came and asked us for that amount on money during they year because that represented almost half of our budget and that's impossible. There's just no way that the GCSU could give that much money to one specific group. No matter how important it is.

2. Je suis venu à Glendon pour le Bilinguisme. Je trouve qu'au Canada, il faut parler les deux langues, aussi dans le monde. J'ai appris mon français en France et c'était pour moi comme dans un village global. Je pense que c'est un avantage d'avoir au moins deux langues parce que j'habitait au Canada, et pourquoi pas français, premièrement et après ça quelque chose d'autre. Le bilinguisme ici, à Glendon, je pense que c'est nécessaire, c'est quelque chose qui distingue notre campus universitaire au milieu des autres.

Glendon reviews the Oscars

March 30, 1992 will mark the 64th Annual Academy Awards Ceremony. Below are reviews of two films, Bugsy and Hook which have been nominated for Oscars. Bugsy has been nominated for best actor, best supporting actor, and best director. Hook, on the other hand, lacks the recognition of theatrical talent, and has been nominated for technical achievements. Visual effects, costume design and art direction are among its nominations.

Big Bucks, Big Names

Heather Birrell

Spielberg's latest fantasy film used the story of Peter Pan, a children's classic, to justify and absolve all those in the 80's who chose work over family, and success over love. It could have been excellent; a whimsical foray into Never-Never land with Robin Williams as the child-like Peter Pan and Dustin Hoffman as the ridiculously terrifying Captain Hook, sounds like a recipe for success. Instead, it was often whiny and sometimes downright boring.

There is no denying, however, that this is a movie that looks good. And so it should, with a budget that soared from the projected $40 million to a whopping $70 million. Norman Garwood and Garrett Lewis have been nominated for the Oscar for art direction and Eric Borevig, Hartley Jessup, Mark Sullivan and Michael Lauteri share the nomination for visual effects. The set, which was constructed on an old Hollywood MGM studios lot consists of one huge pirate ship and several treehouses built from material which included 10 miles of rope, 25000 gallons of water and one million board feet of lumber.

Also nominated was Anthony Powell for costume design and Christine and Montegue Westmore for make-up. Even though most of us are used to seeing Dustin Hoffman dressed up (Tootsie) his new look as Captain Hook made him almost unrecognizable. His crooked nose and craggy facial structure gave him the combination of tragicomic and frightening features most needed for the role. Kudos to whoever it was who "did up" Glenn Close. Bet you didn't even know she was among Hook's cronies, huh? The costumes on the Captain's ship were sufficiently "pirate-y" but it was true Lost Boys duds which seemed more remarkable. Although the pirates' costumes remained traditional, the boys of Never-Never land changed with the times, adopting some motley components of 80's fashion paraphernalia such as mohawk-style "dos" and break dance wear. Finally, Hook has been nominated in the category of best original score for When You're Alone by John Williams and Leslie Bricusse which was pretty schmaltzy and not too memorable. True to Hollywood, Oscar-style, a big-name, big bucks film has snagged its fair share of nominations even if it couldn't infringe on the more popular categories. How many awards Hook wins is essentially irrelevant; its promoters have likely already begun their ad campaign with renewed fervour. No doubt Hook will be back for a second run billed as a "FIVE OSCAR NOMINEE!!"

Bugsy nominated

Pamela Redford

Although the film Bugsy was not given the financial success that it deserved, it has been recognized with numerous Oscar nominations. Bugsy was released at a time when the audience was "gangstered" to death. It followed a long list of gangster films such as, The Untouchables, The Godfather Trilogy, Good Fellas, and last year's bomb Gangsters. Despite this lack of financial success, Bugsy deserves the awards it is nominated for.

This film resembles the quality of work done in the "Golden Age" of cinema. It focuses on dialogue rather than action, a similar feature of films including Bogart and Bacall. This film has such a classic quality that it should have been filmed in black and white.

Warren Beatty may have been a guarantee for the success of a film in his youth, but he does not appeal to the young audience of the present that determines a film's income.

Beatty portrays Bugsy Siegel, a legendary gangster obsessed with the vision of creating a gambling state - Las Vegas. Bugsy Siegel is intelligent, witty and powerful, but he is also insane. Beatty uses this quality to create humour in the character and hence the film. The audience does not find Bugsy malicious but rather humorous.

Annette Bening is his Hollywood starlet, a vixen of dialogue. She captures the qualities of Bette Davis and Lauren Bacall to create Virginia Hill, a dangerous mixture of beauty and fire. The passion between Bugsy and Virginia makes the film more than just a gangster flick.

Actor Warren Beatty, nominated for best actor and best screenplay, and Annette Bening star in Bugsy which was nominated for nine Academy Awards.

The Glendon Women's soccer team advanced to the semi-finals, but at what cost? It has always been a question of fairness of the judging or fairness of our talents in the field of sports at York's Keele Campus. Last Monday, Glendon faced a severe defeat when

■ Résumé

The current trend is for 2-page résumés in point form. This is not an English lit essay, so stay away from those lengthy explanations in fancy language: the employer has no time to plough through all the verbiage. Make it easy for him/her to find the information they want. Use a computer with a good quality printer (the student computer centre in Room A113 is available to you) and make sure there are no (I mean absolutely NO!) mistakes. Statistics show that an employer spends an average of 20 seconds per résumé and if you don't impress them in that period of time, they won't read the rest. This takes them halfway down the first page, so you better put your most marketable skills in that space. For students, that usually means your education, but there are ways of highlighting other assets right up at the top.

The Glendon Counselling and Career Centre offers two types of résumé service: group sessions for those who have not yet started, in order to provide basic start up information, and individual résumé reviews by appointment with our qualified résumé counsellors (in both official languages). The annual Glendon Résumé Contest has just been concluded and it has been a highly valuable and educational experience. The number of submissions to the contest has increased by 30% over last year and the judges found the overall quality of submissions much more professional. It was really tough to choose, but here are the prize-winners:
1st prize: Francine Kalogris
2nd prize: Catherine Thériault Fortier
3rd prize: Simon Richard.

Congratulations are due all three and it was especially rewarding to see such excellent c.v.'s in both English and French.

So how do you market yourself? Make a detailed plan of action, keep at it for as much time as you can manage and use the service offered by the Counselling and Career Centre to help you create an impressive, professional résumé. We are here to help you Monday to Friday, 9-5 in Glendon Hall. And don't panic! Remember, you only need one job and you will find it with the right tools!

players Lisa Berard and Christine Oberli were sidelined due to injuries caused by a violent and desperate Dragons team.

After scoring repeatedly on Bethune's Dragons the Glendon team took the lead and left the somewhat disorganized Dragons team behind. Plagued by what this reporter would call "shoddy and useless officiating", the Glendon team kept facing pressures when the York officials would not call penalties, that not only were rudimentary but also dangerous to the players involved. The officiating continued to get worse and after the first injuries were sustained the referee continued to ignore the rules. I just have to say that York should straighten up and this act was a insult not only to Glendon but also the International Soccer Club.

To cast the total blame on one or the other would be wrong. Both the Dragons and the inexperienced biased officials were the cause. A common argument by Glendon sporting clubs is that Glendon has always been at the mercy of bias from the Keele campus. I recommend that Keele gets it act straight. Glendon is a college of York University and the injuries sustained on that Monday will not hurt the Glendon sporting community but the careers of the players themselves should be examined.

Keele Campus - The Women's International's beat the Bethune Dragons in a 4-1 decision advancing to the York women's inter-campus soccer league semi-finals last Monday.

Scoring opened early as Internationals forward Suzanne Smith received a pass from teammate Amy Minor, and placed it behind the Dragon's netminder in the second minute of play.

Two minutes later, Smith returned the favour of setting up Minor in front of the net and helping her put Glendon up 2-0.

With time ticking, down late in the first half, Annette Lang scored with a bullet, downing chances for the Dragons to win the encounter.

The second half saw a limited resurgence by the Dragons as forward Michelle Lee scored in traffic in the first minute of play. Glendon secured victory in the sixth minute of play when International's forward! Minor, scored from around centre to make the score 4-1.

The second half was also marred by excessive violence as the Dragons placed power forward Lisa Berard and defense Christine Oberli on the bench with injuries. Berard and Oberli sat out the remainder of the game, and hopes for their return for the semi-finals seem doubtful.

 Created a world
 So different
 From one you once envisioned

You fashioned new worlds
 From broken dreams
 And forgotten idols
 Left us crack and AIDS and Gang riots
 Not much to be idealistic about
 I know it's not your fault
 Really, I do
 But sometimes
 My mind roves
 Through fields
 Of flowers
 And crowds of people
 Full of spirit
 Their sounds fill me
 Their music delights me
 And I can hope
 But soon enough
 Reality sets in
 And I must crash
 Down
 To my concrete world

Then all reason leaves me
 And I hate you
 I hate the innocence
 Which in your losing
 Was stolen from me
 Forever.

Interrogation

Sur cette terre asile,
 Dans ce monde fléau,
 Je tire des traits,
 Je bâtis des mots.

Ma vocation est humaine,
 Mon salaire est fardeau.
 Je domine le verbe
 Pour effacer vos maux...
 Olivier Maury

Libérée

Gôûter au mot aimer
 Embrassée par un maqu'reau
 Déchouée par un salop
 Partagée avec une inconnue
 Appeurée par son sourire
 Attristée par ses paroles
 Tannée des faussetés
 Apprivoisée par ses promesses
 Marquée par ses gestes
 Écoutée par les étrangers
 Embarrassée d'être avec lui
 Dégoutée par le découragement
 Mangée par l'envie de mourir
 Abandonnée par soi-même
 Effleurée par son poing
 Brisée sa propre chair
 Décidée à le laisser
 Libérée.
 Natty

Whispering red taffeta.
 golden ripples sweeping
 a lissome frame.
 A poetic eventide;
 tripping the light fantastic,
 godly nectar and blossoms
 till daybreak.

Such is the occasion,
 my fair-haired by,
 which your self-sufficiency has obliged you to decline with alarming compulsion.

Did this negation
 dart from the superego,
 or slither from the id?
 A veritable repulsion,
 or a desire allayed?

Thou sadist,
 Thou masochist,
 Thou apprehensive bachelor;
 what do you fathom
 becoming of you if you steadfastly flee camaraderie?

Learn to trust, bunny,
 become the heart's apprentice
 run rampant, unfettered
 by your demoralizing bastion.
 Learn to have a friend
 and you will ultimately be a gentleman.

Vision

Looking back on bygone years
 In spite of all the change
 Through all the joy and grief and pain
 The zest for life sustained
 By faith and hope and visions
 Though often never clear
 Always there to hold to
 When there was much to fear
 The tests were hard upon the mind
 But even more the soul
 For when the heart is weakest
 One really feels the blows
 In these the bleakest times
 One needs a hand to hold
 To stay above the lifeline
 And keep from getting cold
 Though few the times
 I was alone
 My spirits all but spent
 To turn away the force of darkness
 I barely had the strength
 But something deep inside
 Refused to let it go
 And so I rose again
 To vanquish my old foe
 Reflecting on these darkest hours
 The message is quite clear
 It was indeed the visions
 That sparked another year.

walking through the opaque mist of dry ice.
 subtle yet blatant perusing.
 Focus.
 sultry eyes and a genuine smile
 encounter Apollo,
 god of sun, poetry, music.

diffident laughter and curiosity
 overtake the room
 that once was crowded
 until eyes met.

self-effasiveness transforms into confidence
 as conversation relaxes;
 and the realization
 that Apollo is standing there,
 flesh and hair and eyes,
 a beautiful man.
