Our Purpose

The York Pro-Tem will henceforth appear once every ten days, and will remain, "pro-tem," until we give it a name. The paper is meant to be a means of communications in the student body. If any individual, club or society wishes to submit news for publication, he may affix the articles to the student notice-board, addressing them in large letters to, "PARACELUS," and we will print them. The editors feel that this paper is necessary and hope that you agree.

Sports News............Bud Weizzer

Eager sports fans crowded Port Hope Hockey Arena, and pool halls to watch York students in action. The hockey team did admirably and displays gallant sportsmanship, incurring only fifty minutes of penalties. Goals were scored by McLellen, Gallagher and a certain, 'Rubby'. Following a late evening tea-party in Bowmanville the team staggered home to Toronto. On Thur. Feb. 15th. your hockey team plays, 'Low'. A win in this game will put the team in first place.

The York Seconds are leading their league, having lost only one game. If both teams are victorious an all York final is possible.

In the basketball field the York Windigoes defeated the School of Graduate Studies on Thurs. Feb. 8th. In league play the team, coached by, 'Doc. Johnson', has won three games and lost two. The team is captained by Ian Jones, and managed by Bill Collins. During the first half of the game the Yorkers with Magwood, Levy and Skolnick up front and Newman and Dicks in guard positions worked the score to a twelve all tie. Hyman, Whiteford, Weinzweig and Andrew completed the game building up a victorious 35-24 score. In the three remaining league games York will play the S.O.S. again, Forestry and Architecture. The York Choir............A. Johnson

York is privileged in having as choirmaster and conductor the distinguished Dr. Wm. A. McCauley. Dr. McCauley, present musical director of the O'Keefe Center, has written more than one hundred scores for films, many of which have won awards at international festivals. While engaged as musical director for Crawley Films Ltd. of Ottawa he interested the technicians and other workers in forming a choir for which has recorded for Columbia Records two excellent collections of English and French songs. One recording, "Canadian Folk Songs," can be borrowed from our library.

Our choir appreciates Dr. McCauley's weekly visit to York and we consider ourselves extremely fortunate that such a distinguished and talented gentleman has taken the interest and devoted the time to form the York Choir.

Give Us Our Song
And We Will Sing

In view of the magnificent voices of which we York students are so proud, it is surprising that we have no school song. By that, I mean a song that can be sung at basketball games, hockey matches or in the middle of the library. A song which can unite the spirited York students. A song that when sung will relieve pent-up emotions and cause spirits to lift. We need a school song.

The Meaning

Yorrick

We have inherited a mighty tradition steeped in the majesty of the age in which it was born. York University has derived its name from one of the great Houses of England and incorporated its symbol, the white rose, in its coat of arms. Thus we have received, even if just in name, a significant heritage. It is a heritage of pageantry, wars, trials, fortune, chivalry and dignity. Our motto "Tentanda Via", is indeed significant of this family who not only tried the way but led it to become the ruling family in England. Let us never forget this heritage and never fear to test the way and lead in the fields that we attempt. Let people say that we did not just take a name and symbol but used their significance to further the cause, not of prestige, but of humanity. Our deeds must be pure as our symbol is pure. Our actions, thoughts, words and work must never waver from this course. Let us not fail in this endeavour but work to make York University the shining example for young Canadians in universities across our country and for those generations which follow us.

We Have The Song
Now Let Us Sing
