University government examined
...from plastic flesh to bare bones
By DEE KNIGHT

"Education does not stop, it begins with the strike," says the statement entitled "Principal's Message on the PSA Strike" issued by student leaders at Glendon College in Toronto on September 2. The statement gives us an insight into the atmosphere and the mood that pervaded campuses across the province of Ontario.

The students are demanding the right to be governed "by trustees" and not by "trusteeship of the department as a whole." They express their desire for academic freedom and the freedom to choose their own teachers.

The statement also highlights the students' concern about the administration's interference in academic affairs. They fear that the administration is using its power to dictate the course of events, and they are not satisfied with the current system.

The students are calling for a new approach to education, one that is participatory and democratic. They believe that the current system is flawed and that the administration is not doing enough to address their concerns.

The students are demanding that the administration recognize their demands or be shut down. They are determined to fight for their rights and for a better future for education in Canada.
University Government

Information is power. It would be simplistic to say that students must know the system in the present university government to be capable of changing the system, but not too simplistic. We know that data information is not as dramatic or as interesting as news, but information, it now seems, is necessary to the community's future development.

With the collapse of student council, two possible futures emerge for the student community. We can be 'taken care of' by the administration or we could demand a more relevant, powerful and functional position in the running of this college and the university. The student council, by its very structure, avoided this central question. Now we all face it. But two facts, like iron gates, hold us back.

First, each of us is here only three or four years. This status as 'temporary resident' in the college drastically cuts back the individual's efforts to bring about change. All the administration has to do is cool it for a year or so, and most of the "trouble-makers" are graduated, and either surrender or are branded "outside agitators" when they continue their efforts on behalf of the community.

The second fact is the central myth that the university is a "fact supermarket", where the student picks as he pleases among the various types of data. But the university is not a market place, it is a processing plant. The student is passed through the system, which, through unspoken biases and prejudices, implants in him a value system, in which he has neither been encouraged nor even allowed to examine personally for flaws beforehand.

The hypocrisy of the "value-free" university is betrayed by the position of the Board of Governors at the pinnacle of the power structure. They do not invest their money in the college, they invest their values, and the students are the unwitting product of their investment. This unawareness is the strongest obstacle to education in a university. Awareness is a necessity which we are recognizing now.

The lines of academic power at York

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

PRESIDENT

YORK

BOARD OF GOVERNORS (FINANCIAL)

SENATE (ACADEMICS)

PRINCIPAL OF GLENDON

GLENDON

COSA (LEGISLATIVE & JUDICIAL)

FACULTY COUNCIL (ACADEMICS)

STUDENT COUNCIL

NO POWER

The skeleton of York history uncovered

By DAVID MOULTON

Originally, York University was meant to be a collection of small liberal arts colleges, each much like Glendon, with emphasis on higher academic standards, rather than another university with mass-production goals.

In 1966, the Ontario Government applied restraints to university expenditures, so York was forced to accommodate itself in a tight money policy. This meant a greater volume return of students with the least amount of money. Many students and several faculty members became disturbed as the original concept of York University seemed to have been rendered obsolete.

In October 1968, Dean John Saywell, on his television program "The Way It Is" responded to the reaction to the change at York. He stated that he would resign if the student panel on the show could prove their charge that there had been a purge of progressive faculty members of York. Perhaps the following telegram, which Dean Saywell received the next day, could be considered proof enough.

Editor PRO TEM Glendon College York University Lawrence and Bayview Toronto.
The following is a copy of a telegram sent to Dr. John Saywell. The story which the student had a grip on during the television show 'The Way It Is' is true, even if some of the facts they brought forth may be technically incorrect. I need hardly remind you that my contract was not renewed and that for five years on the York faculty I had been a persister and public critic of York's structure and educational policy. My forced leaving evoked both public and private protests by students. Like John Seeley, I was forced to leave York, but other faculty left out of disillusionment with an administration which betrayed hopes of freedom and experimentation in education.

Shame on you for a cheap trick of a rhetorical threat of resignation in order to obscure the very real basis of complaints which York students have against a patronising and sometimes vicious administration of which you may not have been the chief architect, but certainly the willing servant.

Richard K. Pope, professor of Social Science and Anthropology, University of Saskatchewan Regina Campus.

And today the situation looks no better as education minister Bill Davis and his department continue to "put the screws" to university expenditures in the province. One faculty member at the Steeles campus said that the university has so overexpanded its square footage that there can be no further internal development for at least three years.

So much for the small liberal arts colleges and the university which academics and students once thought could be a reality.
The administration retains control
Who and why are the powerful 'they'?

By ROB BEADLE and ANDRE FOUCAULT

The Board of Governors

The top dogs in York's governing hierarchy are the board of governors. They are the absentee landlords appointed by the provincial government to rule York University.

What do they do?
The terrible twenty-two have the final say over everything that happens here - legislation, financing, discipline. Their job is that of protectors of academic freedom and defenders of the faith. They protect the ivory tower academics from the realities of the world outside (la vie dans la grande ville) and the big bad provincial government. They also make sure that the university is run in a business-like manner, and that it turns out graduates who can efficiently take their place in the upper-class friends and associates to bolster the University's funds.

However, the big decisions must be approved by the board of governors. Candidates are sent by the main campus to Glendon for consideration. The top dogs in York's governing hierarchy of five clubs.

The Senate

The Senate is the second most important body of the administrative structure, responsible only to the board of governors. It is comprised as a total of 108 members, of which 11 are from Glendon (10 faculty members and 1 student); Glendon's representatives are probably the most influential members of the Senate since Professor Tucker is the vice-chairman and Principal Reid and Dean Harris are also great contributors to the assembly.

The bulk of the work handled by the Senate is dealt with at the committee level. Most of the decisions concerning budgets and policy-making are made by the Senate with usual automatic acceptance by the Board of Governors. Murray J. Reaves as go-between from the Senate to Board of Governors.

The Glendon Administrators

In most matters, the administrators here at Glendon are quite free and independent from the main campus.

The senior administrator, Mr. V.L. Berg is, in practice, the chief of staff, personnel services. However, the big decisions must be approved by the vice-president of the respective departments at the main campus, Mr. Small.

All routine budget work is done here at Glendon by Mr. Berg in consultation with the heads of the various branches under his jurisdiction. Then the reports are officially okayed by principal Reid and submitted to inspection by Mr. Small and the Senate. This college operation budget covers everything from the salaries of the staff to the faculty and department expenses.

There is usually no interference from the main campus in the routine planning but all long range and high expense items are handled at the main campus in the routine planning but all long range and high expense items are handled at the main campus by the vice-president of administration, and his department. "The set-up is good," says Mr. Berg, "because we enjoy the benefits of organization of a big campus without having to absorb the high cost it usually entails." The administration bureaucracy of the main campus is stacked with experts and specialists in their respective fields.

The hiring of staff is handled by Glendon's senior administrator. Candidates are sent by the main campus administration but the final decision lies with Glendon.

Most of the funds come from the Provincial Government and the tuition paid by the students. The contributions made by private sources is quite minimal. In turn, Glendon must offer its share of the capital through the main campus.

The faculty also makes up a budget in order to meet the salary expenses and other departmental costs. The hiring of teaching staff is done at the departmental level in consultation with the faculty and rarely the students enrolled in the department. The final decision is then sent to the executive of the main campus for formal approval.

All admissions are presently handled by the director of admission at the main campus, Mr. Bider. It is quite unlikely the Glendon will have its own admission office in the near future since it is not ready to handle the extensive bureaucratic work involved. Once a candidate has been accepted under the York University standards, then the selection is left up to Glendon.

Organization of Administration at Glendon

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>VICE-PRESIDENT</th>
<th>VICE-PRESIDENT</th>
<th>VICE-PRESIDENT</th>
<th>VICE-PRESIDENT</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>ADMINISTRATION</td>
<td>ACADEMIC SERVICES</td>
<td>ACADEMICS</td>
<td>FINANCE</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Small</td>
<td>Johnson</td>
<td>Reid</td>
<td>Parkes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Berg</td>
<td>Pilley</td>
<td>Salter</td>
<td>--</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SECURITY and PARKING</td>
<td>STUDENT PROGRAMMES</td>
<td>LIBRARY</td>
<td>BOOK STORE</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thompson</td>
<td>Newman</td>
<td>Wilkes</td>
<td>Allen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PERSONNEL SERVICES</td>
<td>ADMISSION</td>
<td>PLACEMENT SERVICES</td>
<td>FOOD SERVICES</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mitchell</td>
<td>Bider</td>
<td>Agnew</td>
<td>Allen</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>PHYSICAL PLANT</td>
<td>--</td>
<td>PSYCHIATRIC SERVICES</td>
<td>HEALTH SERVICES</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bevan</td>
<td>--</td>
<td>Agnew</td>
<td>Wheeler</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

--denotes people working at Glendon rather than from the main campus.
COSA's quest for legality

By SALLY McBETH

The Committee on Student Affairs was set up as the result of a board-student-student committee and proposes "To originate legislation as well as to deal with matters referred to it" (opening statement by the Principal to COSA, February 1969).

The power of COSA is dependent upon two tacit agreements: that between university President Murray G. Ross and Escott Reid, and that between Mr. Reid and COSA. Reid can reject a proposal passed by COSA back for a revote, but has agreed to accept the motion if it is passed again by a majority of both students and faculty.

In the event of a violent disruption on campus, Reid has given COSA the power to decide whether or not the police should be called. Members were asked to remain on call during the Year of the barricades franchise. COSA has, therefore, a tremendous residual power, although it has in the past often dealt with only one case where disciplinary action could be taken.

Disciplinary problems are usually worked out quietly between the student involved and the dean of students, or are settled by small courts within the residence houses. All for its legislative function, COSA has no set of rules and makes its decisions on the basis of "what is the best interests of the college community". The council was recently attacked by students on the "illegality of its dual-functionalism as implementer of its own laws. There has been a subsequent proposal by students that the council's structures be altered.

Little consideration has been given to this proposal because, explained the student member of the Senate, Charlie Stedman, no set of laws comparable to those of other legislative bodies exists, and until the Committee on the Rights and Responsibilities of the Members of York's Senate submits a report defining what actual powers are or are not against the interests of the college community, the proposal must be considered somewhat premature.

The student proposal regarding COSA would have those guidelines defined by the entire community. The first elections were held in the fall of 1968. Faculty Council was then a closed body in the fall of 1968. Once the student proposal regarding COSA was put to the vote, it was accepted by the Senate.

Faculty Council makes or breaks your year

By DAVID STARBUCK

Faculty Council is the most important legislative council at Glendon College -- the only council you should be able to take all your problems to. It is the only council of the students, by the students and for the students that way, not yet, anyway.

Faculty Council is the highest academic governing body at Glendon College. However, all its important decisions are subject to ratification by the Senate.

Its responsibilities or functions are curriculum, examinations, academic standards, tenure and promotion, the University Student Centre, school recruiting and liaison, and the Glendon Bookstore, among others.

Recruitment, the library and the bookstore are controlled by the university administration at the other campus, Faculty Council can only recommend or urge the administration to take, and it has very little power to enforce its recommendations.

Last spring, for example, Faculty Council prepared a brief for the Senator on the Bookstore Committee which had recommended an additional grant of $51,000 for the bookstore. However, it is highly unlikely that Glendon will receive this money.

The Glendon Bookstore committee has tried to get an independent bookstore for Glendon as it believes it can provide a better and more efficient service. The administration, however, has not acted upon this proposal.

Senate regulates membership

Faculty Council is legally a committee of the Senate. The Senate therefore has the power to regulate membership of the Council, its rules of order and procedure, and to make amendments to its constitution.

Any bill must be passed, in order, by a Faculty Council committee, the Faculty Council itself, a Senate committee, and finally the Senate. This procedure has never been followed in less than two months.

The first elections were held in the fall of 1968. Faculty Council is still a closed body at that time, the push for open meetings gained steam in the fall of 1968. Once the principle of student representation was accepted, it was only a matter of time before the principle of open meetings was also accepted. The Senate agreed to permit open meetings a farce.

At this time, the number of student representatives was increased to twelve. In the election of December 1968 twenty-six candidates ran for eight positions. This October, the number of students representing the Executive Committee in membership except that it contains no students, and is closed to the public. The exact powers and functions of the Committee of Chairmen are still unknown.

The principal is an ex officio member of all committee of the Senate. The Senior Administrator is an ex officio member of most committees. All standing committees have Senate Observers. There are 118 members of Faculty Council, 91 full-time faculty, with the rank of instructor or higher, 9 part time faculty, and 18 students. Students have been only been represented on Faculty Council since the fall of 1967.

The first student representatives were elected by the student members of Faculty Council. The result was a report on college government produced by Rick Schultz, Vice-President of Student Council in 1967. They were appointed directly by the student council.

The first elections were held in the fall of 1968. Faculty Council was still a closed body at that time. The push for open meetings gained steam in the fall of 1968. Once the principle of student representation was accepted, it was only a matter of time before the principle of open meetings was also accepted. The Senate agreed to permit open meetings a farce.

At this time, the number of student representatives was increased to twelve. In the election of December 1968 twenty-six candidates ran for eight positions. This October, the number of students representing the Executive Committee in membership except that it contains no students, and is closed to the public. The exact powers and functions of the Committee of Chairmen are still unknown.

The principal is an ex officio member of all committee of the Senate. The Senior Administrator is an ex officio member of most committees. All standing committees have Senate Observers. There are 118 members of Faculty Council, 91 full-time faculty, with the rank of instructor or higher, 9 part time faculty, and 18 students. Students have been only been represented on Faculty Council since the fall of 1967.

The first student representatives were elected by the student members of Faculty Council. The result was a report on college government produced by Rick Schultz, Vice-President of Student Council in 1967. They were appointed directly by the student council.

Students join faculty

The first elections were held in the fall of 1968. Faculty Council was still a closed body at that time. The push for open meetings gained steam in the fall of 1968. Once the principle of student representation was accepted, it was only a matter of time before the principle of open meetings was also accepted. The Senate agreed to permit open meetings a farce.

At this time, the number of student representatives was increased to twelve. In the election of December 1968 twenty-six candidates ran for eight positions. This October, the number of students representing the Executive Committee in membership except that it contains no students, and is closed to the public. The exact powers and functions of the Committee of Chairmen are still unknown.

The principal is an ex officio member of all committee of the Senate. The Senior Administrator is an ex officio member of most committees. All standing committees have Senate Observers. There are 118 members of Faculty Council, 91 full-time faculty, with the rank of instructor or higher, 9 part time faculty, and 18 students. Students have been only been represented on Faculty Council since the fall of 1967.

The first student representatives were elected by the student members of Faculty Council. The result was a report on college government produced by Rick Schultz, Vice-President of Student Council in 1967. They were appointed directly by the student council.

Students join faculty

The first elections were held in the fall of 1968. Faculty Council was still a closed body at that time. The push for open meetings gained steam in the fall of 1968. Once the principle of student representation was accepted, it was only a matter of time before the principle of open meetings was also accepted. The Senate agreed to permit open meetings a farce.

At this time, the number of student representatives was increased to twelve. In the election of December 1968 twenty-six candidates ran for eight positions. This October, the number of students representing the Executive Committee in membership except that it contains no students, and is closed to the public. The exact powers and functions of the Committee of Chairmen are still unknown.

The principal is an ex officio member of all committee of the Senate. The Senior Administrator is an ex officio member of most committees. All standing committees have Senate Observers. There are 118 members of Faculty Council, 91 full-time faculty, with the rank of instructor or higher, 9 part time faculty, and 18 students. Students have been only been represented on Faculty Council since the fall of 1967.

The first student representatives were elected by the student members of Faculty Council. The result was a report on college government produced by Rick Schultz, Vice-President of Student Council in 1967. They were appointed directly by the student council.
Student council evolution: dances to politics

BY MARILYN SMITH

The Glendon Student Union has no history of bloody revolution. Rather, the struggle has been in trying to get out of the sandbox and into the playpen. The student council is a part of this struggle.

Early councils revolved around issues of school regulations, dress codes, and announcement posters in the "rah-rah" fashion of high school. The wearing of academic gowns was a key issue. In order to pass a resolution of the council that students wear the gowns - Glendon campus officials were not so enamored with the idea.

With a legal status dependent on protection from the Senate, the early councils were in no position to challenge representation on administrative or faculty committees. Nor did they have the power to decide the question of whether the council president sat in on the meetings of the Board of Governors or the Senate, so as to facilitate rapport between student and administrative officials. The council president reacted negatively.

Student "self-government" limited

Murray G. Ross, President of York University, stated in 1967 that "Self-governance is a key to the idea of a university. Members of the staff still have to help him have foresight of the consequences". So the proposal was defeated.

In a reversal of roles, the college Dean assumed an all-powerful role for office in 1962. This platform was one of 'student freedom and responsibility'. That year's council established a student court, the first recognized student body court. The council president stated that students wear the gowns - Glendon campus officials were not so enamored with the idea.

The current constitution (although in a suspended state) decrees a seven man council. Each council member has one vote. This lends a greater deal of flexibility to the council as the Chairman's vote technically carries no more weight than that of any other councilor. Councilors are not elected to a particular position. Each one has to define his working role within the council framework. The influence any councilor or the president may have is dependent on his personality and his work output.

Council has a responsibility to lead, not follow. The failure to communicate drove the grounds were that newly arrived freshmen would be too much inclined to make a popularity vote. Later reform made it possible for a student to run for the office of council president.

The 7-man elite

One great gulf has always existed between the council and the remaining student body. With succeeding institutions, council has been called a 14 man clique, and finally, the 7 men elite. The failure to communicate drove the recent council to mass resignation. Students and council were not attuned to listen to one another. Bad communication was blamed for the poor turnout at the fees referendum. Many said they did not know about the referendum about the importance of the issue.

Should council disregard the communicative lines, alienation sets in. Without that linking, the importance of the issue.

Feud

In the past, I engaged dialogue with the establishment, believing that in time, it would lead through a process of reciprocal concessions to a gradual acceptance of radical change. These views, not sufficiently dramatized, led to the establishment of a 14-man clique, and finally, the 7 men elite. The failure to communicate drove the grounds were that newly arrived freshmen would be too much inclined to make a popularity vote. Later reform made it possible for a student to run for the office of council president.

By JIM PARK

A critique of the structure outlined above must be based on some basic assumptions about the definition of education and the role of a university in contemporary society. It should be obvious that the chief, and in fact only authorized role of the university is to educate the members of society both directly and indirectly.

This definition, then, precludes a concept of education as something that socializes people as other councils in the past threatened to do. It precludes the transfer of power from the university to the student body as is the concept of society. The failure to communicate drove the grounds were that newly arrived freshmen would be too much inclined to make a popularity vote. Later reform made it possible for a student to run for the office of council president.
The flight of the Led Zeppelin

By JIM ALBRIGHT

"Everybody comfortable? 'cos we won't start until you are!"

Showmanship and artistry marked the Led Zeppelin concert at the O'Keefe Centre on Sunday. The surroundings weren't exactly the best for the creation of a relaxed, involved, groovy audience -- but the heavy music in the darkness slowly loosen up the crowd and relaxed the people, but new to that point of uninhibited hysteria that the Zeppelin seems to expect.

Rock is becoming an art

it became obvious as the Zeppelin took the stage at rock music is now an art which, at peak performance, is experimenting with combinations of electronic sounds and voices. Rock is closest to achieving the function of pop art -- interpreting the industrial environment of machines and motors to people

But the 'Edward Bear', who are supposedly a new and fast-moving Canadian group first disgraced themselves with uncoordinated, loud and clumsy derivative noise. Don't bother about their first album which is to be dumped on the market soon.

STAFF MEETING

Wednesday, 4:30

OTTAWA SKING TOUR

DEPARTS Friday

RETURN'S Sunday

Throughout the skiing season $34

To understand you know too soon. There is no sense in trying.

-Job Dylan

STUDENT TRAVEL SPECIAL

OTTAWA QUEBEC FLORIDA

DEP: RET: Jan, 30 Feb, 1 Feb, 2 Feb 7 Deluxe accommodation $55 $34

TRAILWAYS TOURS

627 Bay Street, Toronto, Tel. 364-9118

GLENDON STUDENTS!

Come and hear,

JOSEPH PELLEG- Violinist
ELYAKIM TAUSSIG- Pianist

Old Dining Hall

Thursday, November 6

7:45 p.m.

FINAL WEEK

That super musical closes Nov. 5

JACQUES BREL IS ALIVE AND WELL

AND LIVING IN PARIS

Playhouse Theatre, 1605 Bayview Avenue

Starring the original Canadian cast;
showtimes and prices: Sun, Tues, Wed.
Thurs, at 8:30 pm — $2.00, $3.00, $4.00;
Friday 6:05 - $2.00, $3.00, $4.00, $4.50;
Saturday at 6:15 and 9:45 - $3.00, $4.00, $5.00
STUDENTS $2.00 any performance except Friday and Saturday late shows.

The Campusbank closes in 5 minutes and this idiot's got to prove himself!

True Chequing Accounts. True Savings Accounts. Complete banking services for students and faculty.

Visit your Campusbank
Bank of Montreal
Canada's First Bank

Theatre is a large part of the success of a rock concert -- the dance of singers and players, exhibiting slim and graceful bodies to the virile music, the element of surprise and old-fashioned carnival showmanship.

After a long and absorbing drum solo called 'Moby Dick' the Led Zeppelin wound up with the last, important component of good rock -- audience reaction. As they moved us out of the theatre, still rocking and clapping our hands, the formal and straight atmosphere of the O'Keefe blown to kingdom come.

GUY FAWKES NIGHT

Marshmallow roast in the valley

Wednesday at 8.00

Meet in the Pit

Another PRO TEM production

November 5, 1969 PRO TEM 7

STUDENTS $2.00 any performance except Friday and Saturday late shows.

The flight of the Led Zeppelin

By JIM ALBRIGHT

"Everybody comfortable? 'cos we won't start until you are!"

Showmanship and artistry marked the Led Zeppelin concert at the O'Keefe Centre on Sunday. The surroundings weren't exactly the best for the creation of a relaxed, involved, groovy audience -- but the heavy music in the darkness slowly loosen up the crowd and relaxed the people, but new to that point of uninhibited hysteria that the Zeppelin seems to expect.

Rock is becoming an art

it became obvious as the Zeppelin took the stage at rock music is now an art which, at peak performance, is experimenting with combinations of electronic sounds and voices. Rock is closest to achieving the function of pop art -- interpreting the industrial environment of machines and motors to people

But the 'Edward Bear', who are supposedly a new and fast-moving Canadian group first disgraced themselves with uncoordinated, loud and clumsy derivative noise. Don't bother about their first album which is to be dumped on the market soon.

STAFF MEETING

Wednesday, 4:30

OTTAWA SKING TOUR

DEPARTS Friday

RETURN'S Sunday

Throughout the skiing season $34

To understand you know too soon. There is no sense in trying.

-Job Dylan

STUDENT TRAVEL SPECIAL

OTTAWA QUEBEC FLORIDA

DEP: RET: Jan, 30 Feb, 1 Feb, 2 Feb 7 Deluxe accommodation $55 $34

TRAILWAYS TOURS

627 Bay Street, Toronto, Tel. 364-9118

GLENDON STUDENTS!

Come and hear,

JOSEPH PELLEG- Violinist
ELYAKIM TAUSSIG- Pianist

Old Dining Hall

Thursday, November 6

7:45 p.m.

FINAL WEEK

That super musical closes Nov. 5

JACQUES BREL IS ALIVE AND WELL

AND LIVING IN PARIS

Playhouse Theatre, 1605 Bayview Avenue

Starring the original Canadian cast;
showtimes and prices: Sun, Tues, Wed.
Thurs, at 8:30 pm — $2.00, $3.00, $4.00;
Friday 6:05 - $2.00, $3.00, $4.00, $4.50;
Saturday at 6:15 and 9:45 - $3.00, $4.00, $5.00
STUDENTS $2.00 any performance except Friday and Saturday late shows.

The Campusbank closes in 5 minutes and this idiot's got to prove himself!

True Chequing Accounts. True Savings Accounts. Complete banking services for students and faculty.

Visit your Campusbank
Bank of Montreal
Canada's First Bank

Theatre is a large part of the success of a rock concert -- the dance of singers and players, exhibiting slim and graceful bodies to the virile music, the element of surprise and old-fashioned carnival showmanship.

After a long and absorbing drum solo called 'Moby Dick' the Led Zeppelin wound up with the last, important component of good rock -- audience reaction. As they moved us out of the theatre, still rocking and clapping our hands, the formal and straight atmosphere of the O'Keefe blown to kingdom come.
Girls second

Sports

Gophers blank mac

In the opening game of their inter-college hockey league schedule the Gophers wound up on the long end of a 1-0 count beating Macdonald in a game played at the York practice rink Wednesday night. This was an easy night in assessing only ra'ys after Vi-Ba-Ball played at 4 p.m. down in the valley. (The pool not the rink). Try to be there when it's 7 p.m. only to look at the life-changers. Other upcoming events are the inter-course..., sorry, the intramural tennis and archery meets, so keep them both in mind. — BEITH REDMOND

Filthy Pornography Today

By NICK MARTIN

We bet that when you saw that headline you thought you were going to read a bunch of dirty smut, didn't you, you commie pervert? But we lied, completely. In keeping with typical PRO TEM yellow journalism, we drew your attention to the fact that the Red Guards will be playing for the intercollegiate soccer championship tomorrow. The game will be played at 4 out at the hinterland campus, Tim Taylor told us our liberal arts yesterday.
The Red Guards were unopposed in league play this year, not only that, but they didn't lose any games either. A scoreless draw with the Gaels and Wild Bill Wade have been named co-winners of the Do-Mound in a pulley deck. The reputation of their net remains unsullied.

"The Dorland (Grays) have won the men's intramural volleyball tournament (from 'The Thoughts of Ch-sal's').

The team stacked Ye Greene Machine #2 in two straight to capture the championship. The Gaels were captivated by Pete's hand, the rest of the Ageless Wonders consisting of Arrowsman Pete Van Hoven, Roger C., Tony Tilley, Marty Bazinet is of the Gaels, Rona LaLonde, and Rod Mator.

The co-ed swim meet will be held tomorrow night. The organizers would appreciate if you registered beforehand but latecomers can sign at the poolside. Premier Ed Schryver of Manitoba will officially open thePITCHER'S . . .

The outdoor archery meet was cancelled due to Jack Frost's recent snowstorm. Jack's off to a fast start this year, ure the Canadian Tanger. You can be postponed until later in the year.

STOP THE PRESSES, The fieldhouse crew are presently laying close to the rink. They aren't making any promises on the weather stays cold, we should have ice this week. Turning to the serious question of the race issue, we should tell that the fresh are lapping the pack in the PRO TEM, they lead by 53 points, Virginia 315 - 640, with the so-tongue tied in the middle and the Animals at 395. In intercollegiate play, Glendon leads McLaughlin 815-665, but soccer should greatly influence the final results. Predicted chaotically.

General conclusion (leader of a marine unit operating out of Danang) has been based over reports that the Canada Council has granted one million dollars to a team of scientists for the purpose of capturing the Serpent of the Don, it was taken, however, that plaster impressions of the serpent are in the nation's bedrooms. Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada has no business being in the woods or the mountains, we heard from a nuga translator from the PRO TEM office. Protect our Serpent of the Don, we would remind the Serpent of the Don that he is not alone there, in light of the government and the seizing of this expedition, we would remind Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada that our Serpent of the Don has no business being in the woods or the mountains.

By NICK MARTIN

Just as Ron Maltin feared, the hotbed of hotbed issue, the Douse Animals finished second in the CFL. However, he called the Pen- lioners to take it all; in fact E-House dropped the pen- nant, tying C with a 6-2-2 record, you getting the nod be- cause they tamed the Ani- mals during the season.

Ron Maltin has made a mistake in his forecast, "Howcum?" we inquired. "The Animals have scored twice for the Beavers, one from the Beavers, ending 3rd 27-24 in the fi- nal minutes of play. Ely El- sis was a two-timer for D, Terry Smith and Mulock got one each, and Ramil- lin Ralph Trodd got two vital converts. E's Bourgeois scored twice for the Beavers, with Smith, Mulock and Nick Martin onging.

And Bob Pinkerton of 3rd, pl playing his first game in his career after finally recoving from a broken leg. For his date with the widow Mona, he plans to take her to the valley tonight, for a bit of serpent-watching.

Does anyone have a nick- name for E-House? Send your answer in to Contest C/O PRO TEM. Winner gets to light the fire when we give our running shoes a once over. The furs are sullied.

The Dorian Grays have finished second in the GFL. However, we called the Pen- lioners to take it all; in fact C-House dropped the pen-

E Wins Football Pennant

By NICK MARTIN

Staying on the hotbed issue, the Douse Animals finished second in the CFL. However, he called the Pen- lioners to take it all; in fact E-House dropped the pen-

Frogs harbor a bit of smut, didn't you, you commie pervert? But we lied, completely. In keeping with typical PRO TEM yellow journalism, we drew your attention to the fact that the Red Guards will be playing for the intercollegiate soccer championship tomorrow. The game will be played at 4 out at the hinterland campus, Tim Taylor told us our liberal arts yesterday.
The Red Guards were unopposed in league play this year, not only that, but they didn't lose any games either. A scoreless draw with the Gaels and Wild Bill Wade have been named co-winners of the Do-Mound in a pulley deck. The reputation of their net remains unsullied.

"The Dorland (Grays) have won the men's intramural volleyball tournament (from 'The Thoughts of Ch-sal's').

The team stacked Ye Greene Machine #2 in two straight to capture the championship. The Gaels were captivated by Pete's hand, the rest of the Ageless Wonders consisting of Arrowsman Pete Van Hoven, Roger C., Tony Tilley, Marty Bazinet is of the Gaels, Rona LaLonde, and Rod Mator.

The outdoor archery meet was cancelled due to Jack Frost's recent snowstorm. Jack's off to a fast start this year, ure the Canadian Tanger. You can be postponed until later in the year.

STOP THE PRESSES, The fieldhouse crew are presently laying close to the rink. They aren't making any promises on the weather stays cold, we should have ice this week. Turning to the serious question of the race issue, we should tell that the fresh are lapping the pack in the PRO TEM, they lead by 53 points, Virginia 315 - 640, with the so-tongue tied in the middle and the Animals at 395. In intercollegiate play, Glendon leads McLaughlin 815-665, but soccer should greatly influence the final results. Predicted chaotically.

General conclusion (leader of a marine unit operating out of Danang) has been based over reports that the Canada Council has granted one million dollars to a team of scientists for the purpose of capturing the Serpent of the Don, it was taken, however, that plaster impressions of the serpent are in the nation's bedrooms. Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada has no business being in the woods or the mountains, we heard from a nuga translator from the PRO TEM office. Protect our Serpent of the Don, we would remind the Serpent of the Don that he is not alone there, in light of the government and the seizing of this expedition, we would remind Prime Minister Trudeau of Canada that our Serpent of the Don has no business being in the woods or the mountains.

By NICK MARTIN

Just as Ron Maltin feared, the hotbed of hotbed issue, the Douse Animals finished second in the CFL. However, he called the Pen- lioners to take it all; in fact E-House dropped the pen- nant, tying C with a 6-2-2 record, you getting the nod be- cause they tamed the Ani- mals during the season.

Ron Maltin has made a mistake in his forecast, "Howcum?" we inquired. "The Animals have scored twice for the Beavers, one from the Beavers, ending 3rd 27-24 in the fi- nal minutes of play. Ely El- sis was a two-timer for D, Terry Smith and Mulock got one each, and Ramil- lin Ralph Trodd got two vital converts. E's Bourgeois scored twice for the Beavers, with Smith, Mulock and Nick Martin onging.

And Bob Pinkerton of 3rd, pl playing his first game in his career after finally recoving from a broken leg. For his date with the widow Mona, he plans to take her to the valley tonight, for a bit of serpent-watching.

Does anyone have a nick- name for E-House? Send your answer in to Contest C/O PRO TEM. Winner gets to light the fire when we give our running shoes a once over. The furs are sullied.

The Dorian Grays have finished second in the GFL. However, we called the Pen- lioners to take it all; in fact C-House dropped the pen-