On irrelevance

This year's Glendon student council has been irrelevant to most Glendon students. It is true, to a great degree, as Glen Williams, said, that they have passed a large amount of solid legislation, even more than Jim McDonald's council. Unfortunately, this is not the Student Union's 'bag.' It has meant nothing to them, indeed, the acts passed will probably never significantly affect them. Admittedly, the legislation put through was important and necessary. However, as we stated earlier, the student does not give a damn about it. Council does not give a damn about it. Council has been too distant to concern him.

The 'average' Glendon student is concerned about his studies, his girlfriend, and his beer. Where does this analysis leave us?

First, those sitting on student council next year must be able to communicate and make relevant what is going on at the meetings. This will not be accomplished by mass meetings. It will only be accomplished by an informal multilogue throughout the residences and in the coffee shop and dining halls between council members and students. Furthermore such a multilogue must be consciously initiated by the elected (or in this case, probably acclaimed) representatives.

Second, next year's council must shake off the image of the bureaucratic administrator, created by this year's council. There must be less talking and more real action. Leave the fine print for the 'bureaucrats.'

Third, in 1968-69, council must truly assume the role of leadership of the Glendon Student Union. Leadership has been NON-EXISTENT this year. Council members must come up with important issues, for example the question of student representation on senate, as it did this year. They should be ready to pounce upon such issues and render them relevant to the Student Union (as happened during the 1967 Act debate).

Finally the next Glendon Student Council must be realistic about their relationship with students. At best, all they can hope for is a relevance akin to that of our federal or provincial government. If the new representative government turns to this then they may justify the existence of council.

The agenda of the Faculty Council meeting on Jan. 16 included discussion of a report from the Committee on Examinations and academic Standards on the rustication of certain first-year students.

Principal Reid, Chairman of the Faculty Council, held an informal discussion with student members of the Faculty Council on whether it might be courteous for them on this occasion to withdraw from the council because the discussion would relate to the personal lives and progress of particular students.

The student members agreed to withdraw on the understanding that there would be a full discussion, in the near future, of all aspects of student participation in the work of the Faculty Council.

Faculty Council executive committee appointed two students and four professors, Friday, to a committee to study the applications of U of T's Macpherson report for Glendon.

Appointed were: Professors A. V. Tucker, history; T.K. Olson, political science; B.D. Bixley, economics; and students D.L. Coss, second year; and K.G. Muir, first year.

Crook, 'Tom Jones', the world's largest annual fight, a car rally from Davidson plus jazz, a hoontenany and a comedown. They are only a few of the myriad of activities scheduled for the University Carnival, Feb. 4-6.

Lance, the newest social weekend of the year will be practically free. Day students are especially encouraged to partake of the festivities, with arrangements being made for their staying over the weekend on campus. The active schedule and an information booth are located outside the Junior Common Room for all carnival information.

Glendon Dialogue

By JANE BOW

Pat Riccio is the dance band which has been hired for the formal. Students were asked if, given the choice, they would have chosen a dance band, or a Rhythm and Blues Group for the occasion.

MARTHA DONAHUE, II, Phil. I'm glad we're having the dance band. You get R & B groups all the time at dances, but this is special, being the formal.

JEANNE S.T.PIERRE, I. A dance band is better, because it creates more of an atmosphere for that kind of dress.

JOHN KLAVINS, II, Eng. I'm not overly interested so leave me alone. Typical Glendon response, isn't it? On second thoughts I'd prefer a string quartet.

PETE PELOLY, III, Eng. I think a dance band because it is more sophisticated for the occasion.

ALBERT SCAWARTTS, I I.Psych. If I had my way it would be Rhythm and Blues. It's great for dancing to, especially if you really like the girl you're with.

INGRID TUORI, III, Eng. A dance band completes the setting. When I'm at a formal dance, I like to really dance, which you can't do to Rhythm and Blues.

DAVID TURNER, II, Sec. like Rhythm and Blues, myself. It's cool to dance to, and doesn't make a terrific racket.

SANDY McGANHEY, III, Eng. A dance band is far nicer to dance to.

LESLIE FORSYTH, I. Either kind would be really great in a different setting. If you don't want to talk, but really switch, a dance band is great. If you have things to say, and aren't keen to move, R&B it is.

The next time you pay $2.10 for forgetting two classes, you may think of this.

Glendon members at Glendon can also take out all journals except the present issue for 48 hours. They can take out slides and records for as long as they like. There's no fine of an unforeseen loan period here. They are just returned eventually bringing them back.

I propose the library shorten the faculty's three month loan period to one month. That is long enough to use a book to prepare a seminar or a research paper. If not, it will ensure a book's being used while it is out of circulation and not lying forgotten on an office shelf, or a Rhythm racket. Fortunately, the faculty seems certain to pay overdue fines.

There is no point in having a due date if there is no penalty for ignoring it. I agree with faculty's being allowed to take out records and slides but I think the three month loan period on them, is a little longer. It's a little more for both the students and faculty. The privileges for both should be more equalized.
TURKEYS Gobble up SCARBOROUGH College

BY GRANT COLLINS

The Glendon College "Turkeys" in their last three games proved, at least, that they defy description. On Saturday afternoon last, the Turkeys played probably the best game of their short career in spite of the fact that several of their players were missing. Playing against the Guelph University Junior Varsity squad, however, proved to be too much in the last five minutes for the "Turkeys." Tied at 38 points with less than six minutes remaining in the game, was as close as the Glendon team was to come. The final score was 71-62 for Guelph. This defeat should not, however, rest too heavily on the "Turkeys." It was evident that Guelph had been playing together for a much longer period of time. Moreover, as their control of the backboards served to indicate, they were in superior condition. With Robertson, Dale and Menear fouling out, Glendon's bench strength seemed to run out of gas in the last quarter, and their attempt at a full court press in the dying minutes of the game proved generally unsuccessful. Nevertheless, the encounter was probably the most exciting contest witnessed at Glendon this year. I know that all five fans who attended were extremely thrilled. Top scorers for Glendon were Terry Stringer with 16 and Rick Jones with 11.

On Monday evening, however, the Turkeys pulled off a complete upsurge of form. Pitted against a team that taught Glendon a lesson in ball control, they were hopelessly outplayed from the opening whistle. Vanier were the victors by a score of 63-48. Although it must be admitted that Glendon was hurting that night, it still does not excuse them from their lack-luster performance. Max Korn provided the rebounding and Tommy Weiss and Gary Miller the heroics as they racked up 19 and 17 points respectively for Vanier. The romash with Vanier at the other campus should be one of the best games of the season. Rick Menear was tops for Glendon with 15.

The next evening, which was last Tuesday, saw Glendon re-gain some of its lost pride with a 67-29 victory over Scarborough College. Minus Red Major, who appears to be lost for the season with a sprained ankle, the Glendon team still managed to overcome their opponents. Coach Warren Major regained his scoring touch which he had mysteriously lost against Guelph and led the team with 14 points. Mike Faye with 12 and Jones, Menear, and Sandy McKay with 10 each showed plenty of talent. Dave Robertson scored 8 but was particularly effective in rebounding. This was all the more impressive considering the condition of Dave's legs.

This Friday, York Rebels take on Oswego State College at Doublerink arena at four o'clock. This is an American college and although they have a losing record it should be interesting to see how their calibre of hockey stacks up against ours. The about time that Glendon students realized that the Rebels are their team also and merit a big turnout by Glendon fans.

Doublerrink is at Jane and Highway #7, slightly closer to the rink than the Jane street service but still about 2 miles from the area. But then when did snow and distance ever keep Canadians from seeing a hockey game?

Your chance to work overseas for two years.

CUSO—Canadian University Service Overseas—sends qualified people to 40 developing nations around the world... for a lot of good reasons. Money isn't one of them. Salaries are lower than you'd earn in Canada. But if you can qualify, maybe you'll like one of the other reasons why about 900 CUSO people are at work abroad. To help close the knowledge gap. To gain priceless experience in their chosen field. To play a small but practical part in the nation-building going on in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean.

Tell us what you can do. We'll tell you where you are needed.

I am interested in learning more about CUSO and the kind of overseas work available. My qualifications are as follows.

DIRECT ELECTION TO FACULTY COUNCIL DECIDED by Camilla Haraden

The Students Council voted 7-4 in favour of direct election of students to Faculty Council after a process and principled debate Monday.

A report submitted by First Year Rep. Bob McGaw recommended election—as opposed to appointment—as the mode of selection. Mr. McGaw felt that direct participation of the student body was more compatible with the Glendon ideal and increased involvement would come with the entire student body making a choice instead of a few.

Ron Danter and David Copp, present members of Faculty Council, had argued in favour of appointment. Mr. Danter stated he felt he was not representative of anyone but sat as a student. He indicated that an election would be impractical. Mr. Copp declared it was purely illogical to say that the only way to increase co-operation and contact among the students was by election.

Paul Gardner, a member of the committee to draw up recommendations and a former SC member, defended election by saying it gave a student an opportunity to vote for a student on Faculty Council a basis of legitimacy. He felt, too, that election was more conducive to communication.

NAO TOPS EAST SELLER LIST IN CHINA

PEKING (CUT)—China in 1967 published 68,402,000 sets of the Selected Works of Mao Tse-Tung, Peking Review reported last week.

Last year, China also printed 390 million copies of the Quotations from Chairman Mao Tse-Tung, over 47,500 copies of the Selected readings from the Words of Mao Tse-Tung and over 57 million copies of Chairman Mao's poems.

In addition, the People's Liberation Army printed and distributed a set of Selected Works of Mao Tse-Tung to all 56,260,000 PLA revolutionary fighters.

This immense undertaking was carried out at a time of decisive victory in the great proletarian revolutionary line and for the invincible thought of Mao Tse-Tung.

GLENDON'S OM 'B AND 'B TO BE POSTED

Glendon College is setting up its own 'Commission on Bilingualism and Multiculturalism.'

David Cole, chairman of 'Québec; Year B,' and Vianney Carriere who worked on the committee as press liaison officer, have agreed to form joint chairmanship of the commission which takes its aims straight from those of its mandate.

This commission to study the problem of bilingualism in a college like Glendon may have help from such outsiders as Michael Oliver, McGill's vice-principal, and Ramsey Cook, professor of History at U. of T.

The commission will call on Glendon students to make submissions either as individuals or as part of an organized body. It will investigate the specific linguistic and practical problems of bilingualism here.

A report will be submitted to the Students Council about one year from now.

UGEQ TAKE ACTION

MONTREAL (CUT)—L'Union Générale des Etudiants du Quebec (UGEQ) has moved to take action against the Quebec government for its lateness in issuing student loans.

The Conseil Central National, UGEQ, governing board between congresses, decided in emergency session Wednesday (Jan. 17) to adopt a two-point program to indicate their displeasure with government handling of the situation:

1—A permanent sit-in at Quebec before the Minister of Education's office by three to five students who are 'typical' cases of loans' injustices;

2—A mass demonstration set for Tuesday (Jan. 23), which expects to draw 6,500 students to Quebec from around the province.

Students will be bussed to Quebec from Montreal's major universities.

The second half of Ontario Student Awards are presently being distributed.

RYAN RECEIVES AWARD

The Glendon College Public Service Award was presented to M. Claude Ryan last Friday at Glendon's annual Awards dinner.

Student Council President Al Whitely, in presenting the plaque, said "Mr. Ryan, you're the only giant I've ever met."

M. Ryan gave a speech on the naturally developing relationship bet-
The paper is not a declaration of policy but rather 'seeks to place the matter of student involvement in the context of the university's basic goals.' The report makes two basic assumptions, 'that there is room for improvement in university government, and that the approach to improvement must be through civilised discussion and the exercise of rational judgment.' The report points out distinctions between consulting and involving students, in the decision making process. It advocates student participation on departmental and faculty committees, where they have direct interests.

The report questions whether student representation on the board of governors would improve a university's primary functions, according to the report, the primary purpose of the university is 'the preservation, transmission, and increase of knowledge.' The study says, 'It would not advance the cause of students should the university have either junior or senior scholars deflected seriously from scholarship by excessive work on administration bodies.'

Top-level decisions demand delicacy and confidentiality. The report agrees with the report of the Richard Schults report presented last year that student participants are not only the representatives of the student body, but the university itself just like any other rep. An agreement would have to be made about confidences before students are seated.

'The increasingly well-organized national and provincial student movements are geared for political action and hung up on power. Local student leaders become indoctrinated with ideas of student solidarity and are instructed in devious methods of attaining group objectives which do not promote the individual university's welfare and may indeed be immoral to it.'

But it reassures its readers with 'Student leaders and large and intelligent, independent and honorable, and it is difficult to believe that many of them could be easily indoctrinated.'

The report concludes, 'The important thing is to reach an honest understanding of the differing attitudes, and try, together, with mutual respect, to improve the university and its contribution to the society of which it is a part. Working along the students might produce a revolution. Working together the university could affect a renaissance.'

CITATION U PRESIDENTS STUDENT REVOLUTION

by Brian Clark

Canadian University Press

WATERLOO, ONT. (CUE) — "There is at the present time such a thing as a student 'right' to representation in the university government," according to a study paper prepared for the Committee of Presidents of Universities of Ontario. The 24-page report will be released on Monday.
'There's the rub—what should you say? There's the devil's real problem' according to Norman Smith, editor of the Ottawa Journal, at the forum lecture last Thursday.

Mr. Smith believes that the task of an editor is to place the issue clearly before the people.

It is preposterous for him to pretend that he knows it all. However, it is not only his right but his duty to ask questions, and criticize, to reveal what is significant.

A little knowledge used as a little knowledge is a good thing, even if it's just the knowledge to ask questions,' said Smith. Liberty of the press depends on the responsibility of the people of the nation have a right to know but do we make that right meaningful,' asked Smith.

Editorials, the 'voice of the paper,' are to help make that right meaningful. They are written not in a daily ritual of 'loss-of-tempor-on-paper' but from information to convey information.

At present, advertising in a non-Canadian publication is non-tax deductible. The ownership of a publication must be at least 75% Canadian.

OTTAWA (CUP)—The Canadian University Press Investigation Commission has found the University of Windsor administration guilty of intervention in the publication of the Windsor Lance.

'By refusing to recognize the student council and the student Board of Publications as sole authority over student publications, the senate committee on Student Conduct, Activities and Discipline made a shameful mockery of its alleged concern for freedom of expression in its university community,' the report said.

The commission recommends surveillance of the situation, and calls for the CUP president to demand of the university president a statement of freedom of the student press, if a similar situation recurs.

If the president failed to give such a statement within two weeks of the request, the report recommends the Canadian Union of Students be called in to determine if the University of Windsor is an academically free institution eligible for Ontario government funds as a public institution.
